* I am really not sure why what looks like “dd” has been written here. It is not usual.

To all the faithful in Christ to whom this present writing shall come, Isobel Marchal [gives] greeting in the Lords. May you know that I have surrendered and by this present indented writing / have confirmed to Thomas Felpys and his assigns all those tenement and lands, meadows and pastures with all their appurtenances that once / were held by William Marchal, in Tintinhull. The aforesaid Thomas and his assigns having and holding all of the aforesaid tenement, lands, meadows and pastures with all of their appurtenances / until the end of my life, freely, quietly, wholly, well and in peace. Rendering annually for them to me, the aforesaid Isobel, until the end / of my life 20 shillings sterling, in gold or silver of good money, at the feast of Easter, and making to the chief lords of the fee / those rents and services owed and accustomed for them. And I, [dd*], the aforesaid Isobel, and my heirs, will warrant, acquit and defend against all people all of the aforesaid tenement, lands, meadows and pasture to the aforesaid Thomas until the end of my life in the aforesaid terms. In witness of which matter both I, the aforesaid Isobel, and the aforesaid Thomas have affixed our seals to these indented presents. These being witnesses: William Crokke, John Danyel, John ?Condeman, John ?Cohul, / and others. Given at Tintinhull the Friday next after the feast of the Annunciation or Our Lady in the 36th year of the reign of King / Edward III after the Conquest [1 April 1362].
